ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Literature is the garden of wisdom. It is subservient to nothing but truth. Diaspora is a displacement of a community or an individual from one geographical region to another geographical region. A simple definition of diaspora literature, then, would be works that are written by authors who live outside their native land. The term identifies a work's distinctive geographic origins. But diaspora literature may also be defined by its contents, regardless of where it was written. Diaspora Literature involves an idea of a homeland, a place from where the displacement occurs and narratives of harsh journeys undertaken on account of economic compulsions. Therefore, the conference is an attempt to sketch out possible path for further research involving Diaspora.
